

Is Your Voice Heard?

Join us for a public discussion and policy making event!

2 day event - 1 weekend - April 2018

University of Iowa
Stead Family
Children's Hospital

About the Event:

Now is your chance to talk to someone who will listen and make changes. This community meeting is about how Iowa finds and supports babies with medical disorders present at birth. This helps decrease serious disabilities and infant death. Now we have to decide whether or not to look for new disorders. This may affect babies in different ways than the disorders we currently look for.

Information from the event will influence public law and the future of the program. People who attend will discuss disabilities, ethics, health and genetics. Our meeting will affect all new babies in Iowa. This is an event for the Iowa Department of Public Health.
