

You know YESS provides shelter to kids in our community. But did you also know...?

- A child living in shelter can receive mental health support (including therapy and BHIS) while in shelter and continue these services when they transition out of shelter
- YESS provides mental health services for kids and families in the community, including those who have never utilized shelter
- Our BHIS Team provides in-home services for more than 150 families per year and is currently accepting new clients
- Our counseling team has expertise in EMDR, trauma-informed care, attachment concerns, and so much more

Every day, our caring mental health counselors and therapists work with children, teens, individuals, and families to build skills, improve quality of life, and begin the process of healing.
